"Histolab Laboratory's own Callus Application System" (Callus- Plant Stem Cell)

Different from human beings, some plants continually grow via a certain metabolism. These plants have a specific tissue called "Meristem" which enableS them to perpetually reproduce cells and to keep them young. Our Histolab Laboratory is taking advantage of such plant's ability to keep reproducing cells in cosmetology and has successfully completed Histolab's exclusive Skin Science System

1

Skin Physiology

Enhanced Absorption through clinically proven formula

2

Physical Pathology

Restrict signs of age by accelerating the proliferation of cells and enhance the proportion of fresh cells in skin

3

Pharma-cokinetics

Promote absorption, distribution, metabolism of active ingredients into skin

4

Molecule Pharmacology

New therapeutic approaches to wound healing, the repair of the skin and the improvement in the performance of percutaneous medical devices by understanding the molecular and cellular biology of the skin

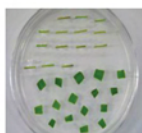

Characteristic of Histo Plant Stem Cell (Callus)

Callus Stem Cell, well known as 'Plant Stem Cell' is characterized by two distinctive properties:

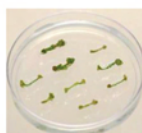

Self-renewal + Totipotent

The ability to create all differentiated cell types and self-renewal is main characteristics of Plant Stem Cells (Callus). Thus, the cosmetic products using Callus are tremendously effective in Anti-Aging, Anti-Inflammation, Anti-Oxidant and Skin Whitening
